FORTLAND, Malice, NOV. 23, 1883.
Mr. T. J. Alley-Dear' Str. Your note of the lish is just received. It encloses the following ally from The Ordegorians: "Noal Dow, in a letter printed in the New York Enching Post of October 26th, says: "The liquor trade is retainly the state of Maline. How does this pestimenty striat the average prohibitionist?" It has been running the rounds of the anti-tumperance press for some weeks, and is false in every word. I wrote no such letter to the Post. The prohibitory has a great blessing to Maine, making it one of the most prosperous states in the Union, while in the o'd rum, thin it was the powest. The liquor trade is not more than one-twen test of its former you mue, and we save annually, directly and ladirestly, at least twenty million dollars, which but for prohibition would be wasted in drink. Our people adopted constitutional prohibition by a majority of 47,675, the whole affirmative yots being three to one of the negative, and that after more than thirty years experience of the Maine law.

And how does the a testimony strike the average whisky champlen?

ARTONISHING GROWTH.

Fawspapers of St. Pau and Minneapolis pre-sent an account of the operations of the buildsent an account of the operations of the building season in these cities, new closed for the year. It is shown that in St. Paul the number of buildings erested this year is 8567, against 223 in 1884, and the build expenditure in building improvements this year is $9,103,700 against $7,266.577 last year. Minneapolis has stated this year 3555 buildings, at a cost of $7,521,350, in 1284.

The record of 1885 for both cities was very large. But that for 1885 auronsees even the great but that for 1895 surpasses even the "hot m" of he phenomenal year. The growth of the two cities is indeed marrellous. In five years 18,174 but dings have been erected in Minrears 18,174 but diago have been erocted in Min-net polis, and shout as many as St. Paul. Min-nea polis claims to have expended in the erection of buildings to less than $38,808,300 in five years, while St. Paul foots up an expenditure for fone years of $30,030,127. The growth of the "twin cities" is due partly to their enter-prise, but largely to the fact that they are the hances contens of a new bountry that has already three millions of people and is still financing and developing with great rapidity.
